APPENDIX V

Interview Guidelines for the Challenges in Implementing LBI for Teaching English at Gandhi Memorial International School

Teacher's Name : Sita

School : Gandhi Memorial International School

Class : Grade 5B Homeroom Teacher

No	Research questions	Questions	Answers
1	How is LBI (Literature-Based Instruction) implemented to enhance students' language skills?	What should be considered before implementing LBI (Literature-Based Instruction)?	<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. The role of the teachers as the students' guides, mentors, and co-decision makers.2. The level of students in the classroom. As any other activities and learning methods, LBI must be executed through differentiation, aligning with the IB curriculum learning method where multiple intelligence is the core of learning. Students of different writing and reading levels will need differentiated literatures / reading materials.

			<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 3. The type of reading materials given to students which should be aligned with the current transdisciplinary theme of the unit. 4. Select reading texts based on the transdisciplinary theme. 5. Select different level of texts based on reading competencies of students in the classroom. 6. Plan type of activity: group reading / individual read aloud / silent reading / scaffolding.
		What teaching procedures are implemented during pre-activity	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Greeting all of the students 2. Daily prayer together 3. Sing a song to make students feel enjoy and make the environment become enjoyable. 4. Asking a question related to the topics 5. Informing the objectives of the material, as well as the materials.
		What teaching procedures are implemented during whilst-activity	Different teaching strategies are used depending on the theme given and agency of students, meaning

			students executing the IB curriculum are given agency and responsibility to determine how a particular activity can be carried out as well as goals that must be achieved and success criteria for the activity. Some strategies include scaffolding / making connections / visualizing / inferring / analyzing / determining importance / synthesizing Another strategy is when students are broken down into groups and asked to read different parts of a text and return to explain their findings and understanding. Afterwards, students can make connections with the transdisciplinary unit and forward any new inquiries that they have to move forward in their research.
		What teaching procedures are implemented during post-activity	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Concluding the material to make students more understand about the material. 2. Giving feedback to the students' performances in the classroom.

			<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 3. Giving homework to the students for enhancing their understanding. 4. Reflection on the effectiveness of the text for each reading level 5. Reflection on how the text can support students' understanding on the transdisciplinary theme
		Is there any fixed pattern of procedures to implement LBI (Literature-Based Instruction)?	There is a certain basic pattern, however implementation is based on the following: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Transdisciplinary Theme 2. Student's level of reading 3. Student's agency on how and when to execute the activity
		What examples of activity to enhance language skills (speaking, reading, writing and listening)?	Speaking: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Students conduct extensive amount of assessed presentation based on their individual/pair/group work. 2. Students are continuously being asked about their perspective on different topics throughout the unit. 3. Debate as summative assessment.

		4. Students read texts and express the difference and examples of facts and opinions. Reading: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Reading aloud in the classroom.2. Reading assigned texts and websites to support their research-based projects.3. Library time4. 20 minutes reading time within the classroom.5. Summarizing texts allows students to digest small amount of information in simple structure.6. Students receive oral questions from teachers to ensure they have understood what they have read.7. Make text predictions using read aloud.8. Story mapping. This allows students to draw a grid and draw important events and write short descriptions about them. Writing:

			<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Writing space and time investment for students: develop 5 phases of writing for all writing tasks, which consist of the following: expository, descriptive, narrative, opinion, formal and informal letter writing, etc.2. Connect writing with their interest of topic.3. Story prompts.4. Examples given for the types of assigned writing task.5. Teachers modelling efficient writing skills and emphasizing on grammar skills, usage of punctuation and capitalizations, proper forms of parts of speech.6. Make it part of a daily routine for students to take notes or write journals.7. Engage in public speaking, school assemblies, internal school activities/competition, public speaking, PYP Exhibition.

			Listening: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. By watching videos or listening to read aloud, students are accustomed to listening with purpose: listening for the main idea, details, sequence, specific vocabulary assigned based on the transdisciplinary unit, attitude and opinion/viewpoint of the writer. 2. Students can be accustomed to active listening by attending to the presentations of their peers and forward compliments, corrections and suggestions. 3. Repeat what the speaker or teachers says, especially instructions and ideas. 4. Active listening during story time.
		What teaching materials can be thought through LBI (Literature-Based Instruction)?	I hope I am interpreting these questions correctly. Diverse teaching materials can be used: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Short story with pictures.

			<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 2. Visual aids with instructions 3. Photos as prompts 4. Word Mat. 5. Handouts or sheets as guidance for students in their activities or writing tasks. 6. Handouts with questions based on texts being read 7. Word walls with vocabulary posted on the wall. Vocabulary words are based on the unit's transdisciplinary theme. 8. Vocabulary of connecting or sequence words to enhance student's writing. 9. Technology – choosing online resources for activities.
		What kind of literary works are involved in the LBI (Literature-Based Instruction) teaching in your class?	Books, short story, reading comprehension texts and online articles in connection with the transdisciplinary theme.
		Is there a difference in teaching and implementing Literature-based instruction through remote teaching and face	During face-to-face teaching, students can complete their tasks at a quicker pace and offer assistance to their peers directly, thus allowing the activity or assessment to be less to face? If so, please explain the difference	time consuming. This also applies for teachers in guiding the students. Face to face teaching allows teachers more time to observe each student's strength, weakness and room for opportunities as well as planning forward for differentiation. This can be done during remote teaching, however more time is needed.

		What skills are more developed in learning English by using literature-based instruction as a strategy in teaching?	All skills in relation to literacy can be enhanced – reading, writing, listening and speaking. Other skills: making connections / visualizing / inferring / analyzing / determining importance / synthesizing
		Are there significant developments when applying literature-based instruction through remote teaching on the students' abilities that you want to develop? If so, how has it progressed?	All skills in relation to literacy needs to be improved – reading, writing, listening and speaking. During online learning, students in general had less reading time and also students are not monitored in their weekly reading as they would have been during face-to-face learning. Face to face learning has its main advantage of having students work at a quicker pace due to having their peers and teachers physically by

			their side. Though online learning has been conducted fully during school hours, 8 AM – 2.45 PM, it has been evident that without the teacher’s physical presence, students showed a decrease in their working pace.
2	What are the challenges encountered by teachers in implementing LBI (Literature-Based Instruction)?	.What challenges do you encounter during lesson planning?	Time constraint. The question rises at times – Would we have enough time to execute the necessary activities due to the time limit (5 – 6 weeks) for each transdisciplinary theme. For each theme, teachers and students are engaged in a large integration of subjects.
		.What challenges do you encounter during teaching in the classroom?	Differentiated instructions, especially for students who are still below the grade level standard. These students would require daily supervision, motivation and assistance in not only completing their tasks, but also to be given repetitions of the concepts taught.
		What challenges do you encounter in assessing students?	Creating different rubrics for assessment to accommodate the multiple intelligence. This is a challenge for teachers, however best

			learning experience for the students. Teachers need more time to plan and assess each student's progress. However, this challenge is something that can be seen as a positive challenge for teachers.
		How to overcome the problems faced in implementing literature-based instruction through remote teaching?	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Enhanced communication regarding a child's progress with the parents. 2. Sending reminders and keeping open communication even after formal school hours. 3. Repeat instructions to different levels of students in order to make sure that they have understood the instructions and how to implement what is required. 4. Create individual / pair / group work as per the students' requests. 5. Open communication between grade level teachers and other level teachers and share methods and strategies.

Note: Gandhi Memorial Intercontinental School executes the IB curriculum. For the IBPYP (Primary Years Program), as many as 6 thematic inquiry-based units are given throughout the academic year. Each transdisciplinary theme combines different subjects (Science, Social Science, Mathematics, English, PE, Art, Music, Bahasa Indonesia, IT) into different activities to support the students' learning goals. Literature Based Instructions are limitedly given per unit for the primary year and is more enhanced and executed in the IBMYP (Middle Years Program). For each thematic units, students carry out what we call the inquiry cycle and the instructions are highly based on each phase of the cycle. Literary works and various reading comprehension materials are given per unit to support the inquiry-based learning for each unit.
