ABSTRACT

This study aims to develop English learning material for Food and Beverage Service as a supplementary materials for F&B Service teacher and eleventh-grade students at SMK Negeri 2 Singaraja. This research uses the Design and Development model by Richey and Klein (2014) as the basis of the methodology. Design and Development model has four stages, namely analysis, design, development, and evaluation. The data obtained from this study used instruments in the form of interviews, questionnaires, and document analysis. The quality of English learning material for F&B Service product received very good from two experts, and this product is valid to be used to facilitate teacher and students in teaching learning activities. The results of this study concluded that the development of English material for F&B Service for eleventh grade students could assist teachers in teaching and make it easier for students to understand the material being studied. In addition, the products that were created also contain task related to the four language skills which aim to train students in that four skills.
