ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Praise and gratitude are due to God Almighty for His grace, which allows this thesis, entitled “The Effect of Digital Stories Towards Young Learners Writing Ability and Creativity in Intercultural Schools in Denpasar,” to be completed as planned.

One of the requirements for obtaining a Postgraduate Master of Education degree in the English Language Education Study Program at Ganesha University of Education is completed by writing this thesis. Many parties have contributed to the completion of this thesis. The author would like to thank the following parties for their contributions.

1. Mr. Hery Santosa, Ph.D., is the first supervisor who has provided direction, guidance, and motivation at every stage of the preparation of this thesis. His patient guidance and valuable input were very helpful in completing this research;
2. I.G.A. Lokita Purnamika Utami has a communication style and pattern that has provided suggestions and constructive criticism that enriches the content and quality of this thesis. Her presence and support have encouraged the author to complete this task; 3;
3. The Coordinator of the Master of English Education Study Program and the teaching staff who have helped and encouraged the author during the preparation of this thesis;
4. The Director of Undiksha Postgraduate Program and staff, who have provided the opportunity and support given in completing this thesis;
5. The Rector of Ganesha University of Education, who has supported the author's interests;
6. I want to express my deepest gratitude to myself for the strength and resilience I’ve shown in completing this journey. There were moments of profound doubt and overwhelming exhaustion when I questioned my worth and abilities. Yet, through every struggle, I found the courage to rise again, even when the world's weight was on my shoulders. In those quiet, difficult moments, I discovered a strength within me that I didn't know I had—a quiet, unwavering determination that carried me through when everything else seemed uncertain. I am proud of how far I've come, not just for reaching the finish line but for learning to trust myself, embrace the hard times, and continue moving forward despite the tears and fears. This accomplishment reflects my intellect, effort, heart, spirit, and belief that I am worthy of the success I have worked so hard for. I am deeply thankful for the person I've become and the resilience that has carried me through the darkest moments. This is as much a celebration of your strength, WINDA MAYASARI PANDIANGAN SPd, MPd, as it is of your dream that comes true.

7. I would like to extend my heartfelt thanks to my parents, especially my Bapak, Saridin Pandiangan, the strongest man I have ever known. He is the one who took me to bookshops, sat with me on the beach, appreciated my cooking, and shared his collection of stamps from all over the world. For your love, your dreams, and the bedtime stories we shared that inspired me to explore and visit many of the places you once told me about—out of 10, Bapak, I've visited those places you always spoke of. I love you deeply to my Mamak, Ida Rosiana Butar-Butar, a Bataknese woman who always spells my name in her prayers, hides her tears from us, and sacrifices so much—paying our school fees while putting her needs aside, always putting us first. I am forever grateful for the love and strength you've given me. To my brother and sister, your endless love, encouragement, and support throughout the completion of this thesis have been invaluable. Your belief in me, your understanding, and the sacrifices you've made are deeply appreciated. I am profoundly thankful for your constant presence and the love you've always shown me.
8. I am profoundly grateful to my brothers, Morris, Gilbert, Joel, Kevin, and my only sister, Poppy, for their unwavering love, support, and encouragement throughout this journey. Their endless sacrifices, words of wisdom, and constant belief in me have been my foundation. They have provided emotional strength and the motivation to persevere during the most challenging moments. I owe so much of my success to their kindness, patience, and dedication, and I will forever be thankful for their presence in my life.

9. I want to express my deepest gratitude to my husband, Elias Parlindungan Lumbantoruan, SS, whose unwavering love, support, and belief in me have been a constant source of strength throughout this journey. In the moments when I doubted myself when the road seemed too difficult, he was there—offering not just his help but his heart. His patience, understanding, and encouragement allowed me to push through the hardest days, and his quiet faith in me never wavered. He sacrificed his time and energy and reminded me of my worth and potential. I could never have completed this thesis without him by my side, not just as a partner but as my biggest cheerleader and anchor. I am profoundly grateful for his presence in my life and the love that kept me moving forward, no matter how challenging the path seemed.
10. I would like to thank my dear friends Eli, Mirah, and Christiana for their unwavering support, encouragement, and invaluable help throughout this journey. Your belief in me, thoughtful advice, and the countless hours you've devoted to helping me have made all the difference.
11. Last but not least, to all the persons who are not able to mention me, thank you for the support, love, and laughter that you gave me. For my work team, my team in “Lesaja dulu”, and those people who always me in all the situations I had during these 2 years. You guys are appreciated.

The author realizes there are still areas for improvement in preparing this thesis. However, the author hopes that this thesis can positively contribute to the development of science, especially in areas relevant to this research. Hopefully, this thesis will be helpful for academics, researchers, and other readers concerned about the advancement of education and science. The author hopes this work can be a good start for further, in-depth research.
