ABSTRACT

This research aims to describe and explain science teachers' perceptions of the use of blended learning as well as supporting and inhibiting factors in implementing blended learning at SMP N 3 Sawan. This type of research is descriptive qualitative research. The subjects in this research were science teachers at SMP Negeri 3 Sawan. The data in this research were collected using observation sheets and interview guides and analyzed using descriptive methods. The results of this research show that 1) the implementation of blended learning at SMP Negeri 3 Sawan has mostly been implemented well according to the syntax of blended learning. The application of blended learning at SMP Negeri 3 Sawan is carried out by the science teacher class VII B by involving students in group discussion activities, experiments and also involving online media such as Google Classroom as a medium for collecting the results of experiments that have been carried out; 2) The supporting factor for implementing blended learning at SMP Negeri 3 Sawan is the use of technology in the form of electronic devices that support learning such as LCD, Wi-Fi networks and is supported by an independent curriculum which aims to develop students' learning potential and interest, while the inhibiting factor for implementing blended learning is the occurrence of error in the online media system and damage to the projector..
