ABSTRACT

This study aims to explain the role of net interest margin in mediating the loan-to-deposit ratio and non-performing loans on return on assets. The population of this study is the Village Credit Institution (LPD) in Bangli District. The sample size used was 23 LPDs with a census approach. Path analysis is used with the Structural Equation Modelling (SEM) approach with Smart PLS 3.0 software. The results showed that (1) Loan to Deposit Ratio has an insignificant effect on Return On Asset, (2) Non Performing Loan has a negative and significant effect on Return On Asset. (3) Loan to Deposit Ratio has an insignificant effect on Net Interest Margin, (4) Non Performing Loan has a negative and significant effect on Net Interest Margin, (5) Net Interest Margin has a positive and significant effect on Return On Asset, (6) Net Interest Margin cannot mediate the effect of Loan to Deposit Ratio on Return On Asset, (7) Net Interest Margin can mediate the effect of Non Performing Loan on Return On Asset. Therefore, LPD management needs to focus on managing credit risk and improving loan quality to improve overall financial performance.
