ACKNOWLEDGMENT

All praise and gratitude the writer gives to God Almighty for His endless grace, love, and blessings, which have made it possible for the writer to complete this thesis entitled “Swear Words Used by Japanese: A Descriptive Qualitative Study.” This thesis is written as one of the requirements for completing higher education. The journey of working on this research has been filled with challenges, both academic and non-academic. However, thanks to the guidance, support, and prayers from many people, the writer has finally managed to finish this thesis in the best way possible.

As a form of appreciation for those who have helped, the writer would like to sincerely express heartfelt thanks and respect to everyone who, either directly or indirectly, has contributed to the research and completion of this thesis.

1. Prof. Dr. I Gede Budasi, M.Ed., as the first thesis advisor, who patiently and thoroughly provided valuable academic guidance. He not only guided the writer through the research process but also continuously shared deep insights, constructive feedback, and uplifting motivation.
2. Dr. Dewa Putu Ramendra, S.Pd., M.Pd., as the second thesis advisor, who gave thoughtful direction and highly valuable input at every stage of this research. His patience and support have been a great source of strength for the writer in facing challenges during the research and writing process.
3. Prof. Dr. Putu Kerti Nitiasih, M.A., as the academic advisor, who has guided and supported the writer throughout this academic journey.
4. All lecturers of the English Education Study Program, who have dedicated themselves to sharing knowledge and insights during the writer’s college years. Their teaching went beyond classroom theory—it became an inspiration and learning experience that shaped the writer’s way of thinking and helped expand both academic and professional perspectives.
5. Beloved parents, Kadek Sudistra and Pande Made Yastari, also my siblings, who have tirelessly given their love, prayers, and unwavering support. From the beginning to the end of this academic journey, they have been the writer's pillars of strength and sources of motivation. Without them, this achievement would not have been possible.

6. Nao, Kyo, and Shimon, who willingly helped during the data collection process and made a meaningful contribution to this research. Their time, effort, and dedication in providing relevant and valuable information were extremely helpful in forming the research analysis. Without their help, this study would not have gone as well as it did. I hope we meet again soon.
7. Closest friends, who were always there with irreplaceable support and encouragement. Their presence not only brought joy during busy academic times but also provided a space to share stories, struggles, and motivation that strengthened the writer to finish this research.
8. Mono, my beloved dog, who—without words—faithfully stayed by my side through every stage of writing this thesis. His presence brought comfort and warmth. Thank you for being a loyal companion, always showing joy and unconditional love.
9. Last but not least thank you to myself, for enduring many obstacles, exhaustion, and challenges throughout this process. Thank you for holding on, for continuing to try, and for not giving up even when things got overwhelming and doubts appeared. Thank you for always learning, growing, and doing your best.

May all the kindness, knowledge, and support given by the people mentioned above be returned to them in abundance.
