Appendix 4. Interview Result and Table Thematic Analysis

INTERVIEW RESULTS (ANSWERS)

-S1:

1. I think the accuracy and relevance of chatgpt is quite accurate and relevant, during my time using gpt I felt that some of the questions and instructions I gave deviated from what I wanted, and many of the answers from gpt were less relevant based on the source if you want to look for citations or books that can be accessed

2. Chatgpt helps me learn new things about English literature, phonology, phonetic or phonological processes, and learn and find information about TEFL and interesting teaching methods. The advantage of using Chatgpt is that I can design fun and engaging lessons and learn about phonology and linguistics.

3. Actually, I don't often experience difficulties when using ChatGPT, but it has happened several times, when I wanted to look for examples of words regarding English phonetics, but what GPT gave was only that, the examples given were not many and varied, the examples given were only ordinary or general words.

4. I don't think so, it's possible that the information given is general information taken from the internet so the answer is not wrong, but there are many things lacking in the answer. For example, it lacks critical examples.

5. Yes, I feel that GPT is beneficial for me, especially when I want to learn and find out information about related courses.

6. I think my lecturers know, especially since some of the lecturers are studying and researching AI, but they allow the use of chatgpt and other AI to learn and deepen the course, but as long as they do not use AI as the main tool and create plagiarism with AI. It is allowed but limited, students are required to continue to use the results of their thinking abilities and make AI only as a target, inspiration and learning tool

7. There are several lecturers who completely prohibit the use of GPT to do assignments, but this is used to limit its massive use and its impact on the students' own thinking abilities.

8. In my opinion, without GPT or with ChatGPT, well-designed learning using clear, varied media that fully involves students can create and produce interesting learning. In my experience, GPT has an impact on online learning and can be used with this media when teaching grammar. When learning with the use of AI like this, I think the learning that is carried out becomes quite interesting.

9. I think using chatgpt is fun, there are many new things that I learned, access and use are also quite easy. related to the learning atmosphere presented with gpt is quite relaxed, but with gpt it allows for less flexibility and more consideration when doing assignments given by lecturers. the main reason why I think chatgpt is fun is because it is easy to access and use, however because there is a new feature, namely subscribing to chatgpt which causes limitations on the use of gpt, this makes me feel that the access provided by the developer of gpt is more difficult and slows down access

10. As I recall, when I was looking for information about the suggestopedia method and how to apply this English teaching method, I got various additional information on GPT so that I could design interesting learning for students. Because of that, I became more confident in my understanding and the methods that I would use in teaching with the suggestopedia method.

-S2

1. I feel that most of ChatGPT's responses are accurate and useful. For example, when I had trouble understanding how to use past tense verbs, ChatGPT gave clear explanations and examples that helped me a lot.

2. ChatGPT has really supported my English learning. It helps me understand grammar rules, improve my vocabulary, and gives feedback on my writing. I can also ask questions anytime, which is very helpful.

3. Sometimes I do face some challenges. For example, there are moments when I don't fully understand the explanation because it's too long or too complex. Also, sometimes the answer is not exactly what I'm asking.

4. Yes, a few times I found some information that wasn't fully correct or didn't match my question. When that happens, I try to search for more information or ask my lecture to confirm the correct answer.

5. Yes, I feel that using ChatGPT is very rewarding. It saves my time, helps me complete tasks more easily, and I feel more confident in my English skills because I can learn at my own pace.

6. Yes, my lecturer knows that I use ChatGPT. They are okay with it as long as I use it to help me learn and not just to copy answers. They always remind us to understand the content, not just depend on the AI.

7. It depends on the lecturer. Some are supportive and say it's okay to use ChatGPT for learning, while others are more careful and remind us not to rely on it too much, especially for assignments.

8. I think ChatGPT makes learning more fun and interesting. I enjoy learning more when I can explore topics by asking questions directly and getting quick answers.

9. Yes, I enjoy using ChatGPT because it creates a relaxed atmosphere. I don't feel nervous or afraid to ask something, unlike in class where I sometimes feel shy.

10. I remember using ChatGPT to help me prepare a presentation. I was unsure about the vocabulary, but after using ChatGPT, I felt more prepared and confident. It really motivated me to do better.

-S3:

1. In my opinion, chat can provide what we need according to the instructions given, from my experience, if you want the results given to be accurate and relevant, clear and detailed instructions are needed so that the results will be relevant to what is needed.

2. Chat gpt is very helpful in providing basic ideas when there are tasks

3. No. I have never experienced difficulties because I rarely use chat gpt.

4. Yes, I have, when I was not detailed enough in giving instructions, so I clarified the instructions to be able to get accurate information.

5. Gpt chat is useful if used normally and not too much, for example, to ask for basic ideas.

6. Yes, my lecturer even suggested to explore ideas but the lecturer asked to develop ideas according to our own abilities and did not ask for gpt to complete the assignment.

7. Support the use, but not too much like just exploring ideas

8. Sometimes yes, sometimes normal, because sometimes in learning there are lecturers who ask for expert opinions so we need to look in journals not in GPT.

9. My answer on this point is the same as the answer on the previous 8th point

10. Yes, when preparing a presentation, sometimes I practice with gpt.

-S4:

1. I think the responses from chatgpt is quite accurate as it's relevant to what I'm asking for. For example, when I ask to give suggestions about my essays, it gives me detailed explanations on what should I revise.
2. It really helps me with my writing process as I often asks for feedback or any suggestions for my writing improvement which I cannot find on other apps. So basically that can be one advantage that I notice from chatgpt.
3. Yes, sometimes. I guess it because of the internet connection in which sometimes I face problems like error responses that it answers out of what I'm asking.
4. Yes, I usually just refresh the sites or close it and open it again. Sometimes it just matters of connection and lagging.
5. Yes, definitely. Because I can improve my learning experiences as I told you earlier about writing suggestions and feedback, so I'm not confused on what should I revise and it really helpful.
6. Yes, they even support it uses as long as we use it properly and doesn't copy paste because it will be considered plagiarism.
7. Some of them really encourage us, but some of them really strict on the use of AI so some of them discourage us.
8. Yes, because I can learn in my own pace and explore what I want to know without hesitation that makes it really engaging to use it.
9. Yes, because sometime when we want to ask to our lecturer, we often feel hesitation or afraidness, meanwhile when I talk to chatgpt I can ask anything without hesitation and the responses are also really relevant with what I'm asking for.
10. Yes, one time I have an essay task and I ask for feedback with chatgpt. Surprisingly I noticed a lot of mistakes in my writing. When I revised it based on the chatgpt's responses I feel more confident and the score that I got also surprisingly good.
