- Because I want my audiences to know that I know English really well
- I repeat my words in different language to strengthen my statement

Q: Why did you choose those answer? Please explain it in a brief paragraph.

A: The only reason why I use the mixing code is because sometimes, certain words in Bahasa Indonesia sounds strange when we put it in a sentence. For example, the word "followback or followback" means "ikuti or ikuti balik" in Bahasa Indonesia. We all (as Indonesians) know that when we say "Nanti ikuti aku ya or nanti ikuti aku balik ya" the meaning will be ambiguous. It sounds like we ask the person to follow us (walk behind us). That is why, to avoid it, I choose to use some English words (mixing code) in my sentence.
