ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First of all, the writer would like to express the deepest gratitude to the Almighty God, Ida Sang Hyang Widhi Wasa, for His endless blessings, grace, guidance, and strength throughout the completion of this thesis entitled "The Effect of Project-Based Learning on Students' Learning Motivation in a Bilingual Science Classroom at Mahardika Denpasar Elementary School". This thesis is submitted as one of the requirements for obtaining the degree of Master of Education (M.Pd.) in the English Language Education Study Program, Postgraduate Program, Universitas Pendidikan Ganesha.

The writer realizes that this thesis would never have been accomplished without the invaluable support, guidance, encouragement, and assistance of many individuals. Therefore, the writer would like to express sincere appreciation and heartfelt gratitude to the following honorable persons:

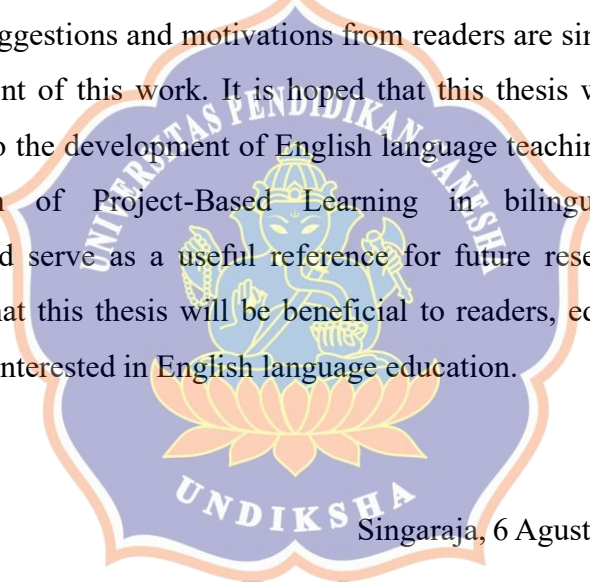

1. Prof. Dr. I Wayan Lasmawan, M.Pd., Rector of Universitas Pendidikan Ganesha, for providing the opportunity and facilities to pursue postgraduate study.
2. Prof. Dr. I Nyoman Jampel, M.Pd., Director of the Postgraduate Program of Universitas Pendidikan Ganesha, for his leadership and continuous support throughout the writer's academic journey.
3. Prof. Dra. Luh Putu Artini, M.A., Ph.D., Head of the English Language Education Study Program, for her encouragement, academic guidance, and valuable contributions during the writer's study.
4. Prof. Dr. Ni Nyoman Padmadewi, M.A., Ph.D., as the first supervisor, and Prof. Dra. Luh Putu Artini, M.A., as the second supervisor, for their invaluable guidance, insightful suggestions, patience, and continuous motivation throughout the process of conducting this research and completing this thesis.
5. All lecturers of the English Language Education Study Program, Universitas Pendidikan Ganesha, for sharing their knowledge, experiences, and inspiration during the writer's postgraduate study.

6. The Principal, English bilingual teachers, and sixth-grade students of Mahardika Denpasar Elementary School, for granting permission, providing cooperation, and participating in this research.

7. The writer's beloved parents and family, whose endless love, prayers, encouragement, understanding, and unwavering support have always been the greatest source of strength throughout this academic journey.

8. The writer's friends and classmates in the English Language Education Study Program for their friendship, motivation, meaningful discussions, and support during the completion of this thesis.

The writer fully realizes that this thesis is still far from perfect. Therefore, constructive suggestions and motivations from readers are sincerely welcomed for the improvement of this work. It is hoped that this thesis will provide valuable contributions to the development of English language teaching, particularly in the implementation of Project-Based Learning in bilingual primary school classrooms, and serve as a useful reference for future researchers. Finally, the writer hopes that this thesis will be beneficial to readers, educators, researchers, and all parties interested in English language education.
