DEDICATION

First and foremost, I dedicate this thesis to God Almighty, whose unfailing love, abundant grace, wisdom, and faithful guidance have sustained me throughout every step of this academic journey. His strength has carried me through every challenge and made this achievement possible. With my deepest love and gratitude, I dedicate this thesis to my beloved parents, my late father, Mr. Thomas Togodli, and my beloved mother, Mrs. Mina Gombo. My father, although no longer physically present, remains my greatest inspiration. His values, sacrifices, and enduring legacy continue to guide and strengthen me. To my mother, thank you for your unconditional love, endless prayers, unwavering support, and countless sacrifices. Your encouragement has been my greatest source of motivation to persevere and accomplish this milestone. I also dedicate this thesis to my beloved family, especially my dear older sisters, my beloved brother, and my beloved twin younger sisters. Thank you for your constant love, encouragement, understanding, and prayers throughout this journey. Your presence has been a source of comfort and strength during both the difficult and joyful moments of my life. Finally, I dedicate this thesis to my cherished friends, whose companionship, kindness, encouragement, and shared experiences have made this journey more meaningful. Thank you for standing by me, believing in me, and reminding me that every challenge is an opportunity to grow. May this thesis become a meaningful contribution to the field of education and a reflection of gratitude to everyone who has been part of this remarkable journey.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Praise and gratitude are offered to God Almighty for His grace, so that the thesis entitled: <Teachers' TPACK Competencies and Students' Digital Literacy and Attitudes Toward Digital Learning: Exploring the Influences and Challenges in Rural Senior High School SMA Negeri 1 Wamena, Papua>, has been completed as planned. This thesis was written to fulfill one of the requirements for obtaining the Master of Education degree from the Postgraduate Program of Universitas Pendidikan Ganesha in the English Language Study Program. The completion of this thesis received considerable assistance from various parties. Therefore, the author would like to express gratitude and appreciation to the following parties: I Putu Indra Kusuma, S.Pd., M.Pd., Ph.D, as Supervisor I, who patiently guided, directed, and provided highly meaningful motivation, enabling the author to overcome various obstacles during the course of study and the completion of this thesis; Dr. Dewa Putu Ramendra, S.Pd., M.Pd, as Supervisor II, who, through his distinctive style and pattern of communication, encouraged the author's enthusiasm, motivation, and hope during the research and writing of this thesis report, so that this thesis could be completed properly as expected; Prof. Dr. Ni Nyoman Padmadewi, M.A. and Dr. Luh Diah Surya Adnyani, S.Pd., M.Pd., as examiners who provided many valuable inputs for the improvement of this thesis; the Grade 10 and 11 students of SMA Negeri 1 Wamena who were extensively involved as research subjects; the Principal of SMA Negeri 1 Wamena, Mr. Yosep Wibisono, S.Pd., M.Pd, who granted the author permission to conduct research at SMA Negeri 1 Wamena; the Head of STKIP Kristen Wamena, who granted permission and administrative assistance so that the author obtained the opportunity to continue the study and complete this thesis; the Coordinator of the English Language Study Program and the teaching staff, who provided considerable assistance and motivation during the preparation of this thesis; the Director of the Postgraduate Program of Undiksha and staff, who provided considerable assistance while the author was completing this thesis; the Rector of Universitas Pendidikan Ganesha, who provided moral support and facilitated various needs of the author in completing this thesis; fellow students in the Postgraduate Study Program, each with their own character, who contributed significantly to shaping the author's selfhood during the course of study and the completion of this thesis; the late Mr. Thomas Togodli and Mrs. Mina Gombo, the author's parents, who provided substantial material and moral support during the completion of this thesis. May all the assistance they have provided in completing this study be rewarded appropriately by God Almighty, along with health and harmony in life. The author realizes that this thesis is not yet perfect. However, its presence within the academic community will contribute to the body of knowledge in the development of science. May this thesis be beneficial to the academic community, especially those who place themselves under the great banner of education.
