2) Creating of the Games using Wordwall

Teachers can design the games according to the learning process in the classroom. English language games can be created after logging in to the Wordwall website.

To login into the Wordwall, teachers can use their own Google account. Then, click the “Create Activity” to create new activities. After finishing create one activity, teachers can see their own activities by clicking the “My Results” option from the picture above. For the teacher, it needs to upgrade the Wordwall to the premium version to be able to access full of its content. The price is reasonable to access it every month. Therefore, the students will be able to access it for free with all of the activities on Wordwall.

There are many templates that teachers can use with different styles of practice that the teachers are going to do. Each template has its own characteristics. Take one of the examples from the "Quiz" template. When the teachers use it, the template will show certain questions that the students need to answer correctly. Some of the templates also provide listening skills or listening media. There are so many ways that the teachers can use those templates. Moreover, it can make the students feel more enjoyment with the different templates from the practice.

Activity Title

Material - Housekeeping Meet 1 - Names of Cleaning Tools

Instruction Optional

Please answer the correct cleaning tools based on the clue below!

Question

1. What can we use to clean the window?

Answers

a ☒ Squeegee	b ☒ Bucket
c ☒ Mop	d ☒ Broom
e ☒ (Optional)	f ☒ (Optional)

Teachers need to create the title of the activities first, then they need to put an instruction to the students about what kind of activities that they need to do.

There is no limit to the number of questions teachers can create. For the option, the maximum is 6 options. When creating the questions, teachers can type in the question column, then put the answers to the options below it. It has to have one correct answer for each question on the option list. To make another question, teachers can click add the number 1 question below. Moreover, teachers can copy and paste the question in order have a similar question to the next question. Providing Housekeeping Vocabulary for each question can be a good solution to help students increase their vocabulary mastery step by step. All the questions need to be related to the material on the campus. Therefore, students can use the gamification website, namely Wordwall for studying activities at home.

In developing digital games for gamification-based learning, visuals play a crucial role, serving as a bridge between academic content and students' emotional experiences. Without good visuals, learning activities through digital games tend to feel monotonous or even boring. Attractive visual design, such as the use of harmonious colors, contextual illustrations, clear icons, and responsive animations, can create a more lively and less monotonous learning environment. Wordwalls feature numerous engaging visuals that teachers can use in developing learning games. Pedagogically designed visuals also help students understand vocabulary or concepts more concretely through pictorial and symbolic representations, thereby strengthening cognitive processes and long-term memory. Furthermore, aesthetically pleasing and interactive displays can enhance students' curiosity, intrinsic motivation, and emotional engagement during the process of improving English vocabulary. Therefore, the integration of appropriate visual elements into digital games not only enhances the visuals but also serves as an effective instructional strategy to foster learning enjoyment and support optimal achievement of learning objectives for housekeeping students.

The image shows a screenshot of a digital game's 'Options' menu. The menu is titled 'Options' and contains several settings categories: 'TIMER' with radio buttons for 'None', 'Count up', and 'Count down' (selected), and a timer set to 15 minutes and 0 seconds; 'RANDOM' with checkboxes for 'Shuffle question order' and 'Shuffle answer order' (both checked); 'RETRIES' with a checked checkbox for 'Allow single retry after incorrect answer'; 'LIVES' with a slider set to 'Unlimited'; 'MARKING' with a checked checkbox for 'Automatically proceed after marking'; 'END OF GAME' with a checked checkbox for 'Show answers'; and 'LETTERS ON ANSWERS' with radio buttons for 'A, B, C' (selected) and 'None'. At the bottom, there is a button labeled 'Apply To This Activity' and a 'More' dropdown menu.

There are various options for organizing learning activities through digital games. Teachers are required to organize the content of the game before giving it to students to ensure clear activities, both in terms of allocating time for the activity and addressing challenges during the practice process. Game settings include the setting of the time, the maximum number of student mistakes (lives when answering wrong), and random questions. Teachers can test students' abilities in carrying out the activity by changing the game settings in the future. This can help determine whether students' levels have improved. Make sure to click the "Apply" after finishing setting the game to save it.

The following picture is the main menu before ready to play the games. Before seeing this menu, students are required to access the link provided by the teacher, whether using a smartphone or a laptop. After clicking the provided link, they can begin the game by selecting the "Start" option in the example image above. The game requires an internet connection, so students can turn on cellular data or use the provided Wi-Fi.

What can we use to clean the window?

A Broom

B Squeegee

C Mop

D Bucket

◀ 1 of 30 ▶

The teacher provides various questions related to the material given. For example, in this picture, the material is Cleaning Tools. So all the questions will be related to the Cleaning Tools' materials. Students are required to answer all the questions to the best of their knowledge. Vocabulary mastery in the housekeeping material is provided through the provided options, along with clues for each questions. Students are going to memorize a significant amount of important vocabulary within the housekeeping material. There is a time limit for completing the questions as well, and once the time runs out, the questions will automatically close, preventing students from continuing their work. If the teacher previously used a "lives limit" for answering questions, incorrect answers will result in a loss of the game progress. If the game's lives run out before time runs out, the student is declared the game over. The presence of engaging challenges can further fuel students' enthusiasm for learning, leading them to strive for victory. Student grades can be seen in the points in the upper right corner of the question, and the number of questions can be seen below.

The scoring system in the example picture above can increase students' activeness for learning when engaging in gamification-based learning activities. Scores are implied not only as a learning evaluation tool but also as a form of direct feedback that reinforces students' efforts and learning achievements. When students earn points for successfully completing assigned problems, they feel recognized for their progress. Structured and transparent scoring helps students see their progress, increasing a sense of self-confidence and competitiveness.

Furthermore, the scoring system can create healthy challenges and positive competition among students in the class, moreover encouraging active participation and greater engagement in the learning process, thus increasing learning enjoyment. Scoring in gamification activities is not simply a game element, but a highly effective pedagogical strategy for continuously increasing student motivation, engagement, and enthusiasm for learning Housekeeping vocabulary in the classroom.

To gain a good understanding when answering questions, students also need to identify where their errors lie. The Wordwall displays a menu that allows students to view their incorrect answers and see actual corrections. Students can learn from their previous mistakes, allowing them to improve their future answers to questions about their learning material. Therefore, students can also increase their vocabulary mastery based on their previous mistakes.

Each journal assigned by the author differs. The journals in first month through third month allow students to write about their progress in bilingual ways, namely Indonesian and English. Students are allowed to mix their languages to familiarize themselves with writing in English with new vocabulary. The journal-by-month format indicates that students begin writing in the initial phase (first month), and the following month with different stories and different games. This journals will serve as a record of students' stories throughout the learning process. The fourth until sixth journal are required to use full English.
