Grand Theories	Culture in Foreign Language Learning according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages, learning, teaching, and assessment (the Council of Europe, 2001)

A. Grand Theories

Many experts argue that learning a foreign language can not be separated from learning the culture that shape the language. The Common European Framework provides a common basis for elaborating language syllabuses, curriculum guidelines, examinations, textbooks, etc., across Europe. It describes comprehensively what language learners have to learn to do to use a language for communication and what knowledge and skills they have to develop to be able to act effectively. The description also covers the cultural context in which language is set. There are seven cultural contents. There are seven biggest themes highlighted as cultural sources as describes as follow:

1. Daily Life
2. Life Condition
3. Interpersonal Relation
4. Values, Beliefs, and Behaviours
5. Body Language
6. Social Convention

7. Ritual Behaviour

It is said that learning a foreign language cannot be separated from learning the culture of the people who use that language. The portrayal of cultural sources can be in various forms; positive, neutral, and negative portrayal.

1. Rashid & Ibrahim (2018) examined cultural contents presented in English textbook focusing on the different features of western culture that is not in harmony with Islam.
2. Shabir et al. (2011) investigating as how Afghanistan is being represented and portrayed in two leading US magazines - Newsweek and Time. He proposed the negative and positive portrayal of Afghanistan in magazines. Sentences that reflect social strife, natural and human steered deaths and destruction, political instability, catastrophic, chaos and anarchy, shabby living conditions, and political, economic, and social was coded as negative sentences. Meanwhile, Positive sentences that depict the development and positive changes in the economic, political, and social sector promotion of democratic values, harmony and peace, and involvement in the accords/ agreement leading to peace and prosperity with other countries was coded as positive.
